PILIKIA

As Narrated in the Police Court Yesterday.

SWEET EMALIA AGAIN THE STAR

Moanalua is Committed for Trial.
Compulsory Vaccination May be Assault and Battery.

Judge Wilcox's place in the District Court was taken yesterday by Judge Dickey, the former being unable to attend on account of a severe earache.
The docket consisted of fifty cases, some of which promised to be more than usually interesting. Judge Dickey, however, continued the majority of the cases until today.

Moanalua was charged with having stolen a coat and a pair of pants, the property of George Woolsey, who lives at Waikiki.

Moanalua is the half-witted youth who affects female habiliments, and usually carries a purse in his hand. His smile, being once seen, is never forgotten, and he is said to have suggested to a mainland composer sojourning here some time ago, the ballad "Just Because She Made Those Goo-Goo Eyes." A hazy understanding of the difference between "meum" and "teum" has more than once in the past been responsible for Moanalua's enforced absence from his usual haunts.

Moanalua waived examination and was committed for trial.

Sweet Emalia was charged with drunk-ness. She was driving with two friends in a buggy on Sunday evening, when she attracted the attention of an officer. To put it mildly, Emalia had been drinking.
Unhampered by a guiding rein, the horse galloped down King street, while from the rig proceeded incoherent snatches of "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

Suddenly a policeman bade the equipage halt in the name of the law. The driver evidently mistook the order, for he executed the command "charge," and a good horse was used up before the outfit was run down. Emalia and her companions were escorted to the police station, where they made many friends by their wholehearted efforts to drive dull care from the minds of the inmates of that historic pile.

In consideration of her many appearances in the police court, the magistrate fined defendant $12 and costs.

Emalia's boon companions, Kapahu and John Richard, were assessed $2 and costs each.
An additional charge of assault and battery was preferred against Sweet Emalia but it was nolle prossed. In the cell in which she was placed was another wailing named Keano. When the two espied each other the fur began to fly, and it required the united efforts of three strong men to separate the belligerents.

Mrs. Dr. L. S. Cleveland, charged with assault and battery on Anna Kaniho, was remanded until next Saturday. The case grows out of the compulsory vaccination rule in public schools.

Chapman, charged with assault and battery on H. Downing, will be called upon to explain this morning. It appears that Downing tried to collect a small debt, whereupon Chapman gave him a good one where Ethel wore the pitcher.
Other cases dealt with were:
H. Niemann, threatening, nolle prossed; Joseph Barate, vagrancy, nolle prossed; Sing Chong, assault and battery on Nakamoto, Oct. 1; Mee Nam, assault and battery, Oct. 1; William Joseph, Kimu, assault and battery on D. Kauhau, Oct.
1; Elina da Souza, assault and battery on Mrs. Farnez, Oct. 1; John Duncan, assault and battery on Mak Kwai, Oct.
1; Barasky (w), assault and battery, Oct.
1; Ito (w), desertion, Oct. 2; Kahaleohu, gambling, Oct. 1; Sam Tin, violating carriage regulations, Oct. 1; Alani Koahou, profanity, Oct. 1; Eleahala, G. Wilson, Kiahale, Antone Lewis, Jno. Akai, Na-kamma, John Kepano, vagrancy, three days; Olivia Kapale, cruelty to animals, $10 and costs; Lewis Langfeld, larceny, second degree, Oct. 1; W. Nakua, alias Tin Soon, receiving stolen goods, Oct.
1; Benedeta, selling liquor, Oct. 1; D. Mc-Kenzie, selling liquor, Oct. 2; John de Costa, drunkenness, $4 and costs; Haole, Kimokeo, Shannon, Miguel Sato, Kimu, Lunning, Miki, drunkenness, $2 and costs; J. Oliver, F. Loomer, Geo. Gothe, W. Ginger, drunkenness, bail forfeited; Sam Iona, Mrs. Sam Iona, disturbing quiet of night, $3 and costs; Albert Na-wahl, riding without a light, $3 and costs; Mrs. Waldron, assault and battery, Oct.
2; W. J. England, violating plumbing regulations, Oct. 1.

Local Sport.

The baseball games next Saturday are Custom House against Capitol, and E. O. Hall & Son against the Police.
The former game will commence at 1:30 p. m., and will be followed by the other contest.

Horace J. Craft and H. L. Herbert are thinking of forming an angling club in Honolulu. The latter is credited with having captured a large squid in the harbor on Saturday. The squid is said to have been nearly as large as a shore boat.

The invitation men's singles tournament of the Beretania Tennis Club commences tomorrow, on the Young street courts. Entries close today at 5 o'clock, at the store of Pearson & Potter.

The Aala and Kalihi baseball teams played a game on Saturday, the former winning by a score of 10 to 7. The winners have not been defeated this season.

The election of officers of the Healanl Yacht and Boat Club takes place in the near future.

A Springfield, Mass., miser left $100, 000 in diamonds and other precious stones.

Li Hung Chang is again ill.
Only the legation guards are left at Peking.

The steel strike is reported to be ending.
